

Dear 3M,

How are you doing? I hope you are all keeping well and busy.

Many of you have been working on the learning resources from the school website which is amazing to see. I loved watching Mrs Bowers doing the reading tasks about summarising, using inference and thinking about feelings from The Windmill Farmer animation. I hope you've had a go at these. The writing tasks were an informal letter, a diary entry and setting comparison. We've done these at school so you should have remembered how to do them, in addition to using the at home learning videos. Some of you have shared some great facts about Antarctica and made some informative posters about the importance of clearing up litter for the environment on Purple mash. You could set up a blog on Purple mash to share what you've been up to.

Miss Webb's challenge this week is to create a memory tree of what you've been up to, being as creative as you like. However you choose to do so, please keep sharing your work with me, it really does cheer up my day.

This week, I've done some spring cleaning, not my favourite thing to do but it's quite satisfying for everything to be clean and tidy. Perhaps you could have a go at spring cleaning your bedrooms this week? Even though it's been raining I'm carrying on with my daily walks, this is a picture of the bluebell woods near my house.

I've also started a new book called Artemis Fowl, it's a fantasy adventure story with fairies in it! I'll let you know what I think when I've read more.

Keep smiling and take care.

Love from,
Miss Mitchard
